LEARNING OUTCOMES

Addressing the needs of Asian Indians in the peripartum period

1/12/2021 from 12-1pm

At the conclusion of this educational offering, participants will be able to describe cultural beliefs, health care practices, and culturally appropriate strategies to use when providing care to Asian Indians during the peripartum period using a program evaluation tool.

Caring for Asian Indian children with special needs

1/19/2021 from 12-1pm

At the conclusion of this educational offering, participants will self-report intent to change practice by applying knowledge of Asian Indian cultural beliefs and their acceptance of a special needs diagnosis, use of early intervention services, and appropriate interaction skills when caring for families with a special needs child.

Gaining insight into Asian Indian teens and sexuality

1/26/2021 from 12-1pm

At the conclusion of this educational offering, participants will be able to describe how teens who identify as LGBTQ are embraced in the Asian Indian communities and will learn how to assess for specific issues and barriers related to sexuality that may arise when caring for or counseling teens using a program evaluation tool.
