Maternal Wrap-Around Program (M-WRAP)

The JSAS HealthCare Maternal Wrap-Around Program provides case management and peer recovery support for pregnant women living in Monmouth and Ocean Counties who have been diagnosed with substance use disorders. Following are some important facts about our program and the vital resources that we help make available.

- ♦ To qualify, a patient must be pregnant and have a substance use disorder diagnosis.
- ♦ This program will follow the parent until the child's first birthday.
- ♦ If a mother becomes pregnant at any time in the future, she may participate in our program again should she choose to do so.
- ♦ A patient does not have to attend treatment at this facility in order to participate. She may participate in the JSAS M-WRAP Program while continuing to receive care (MAT/Outpatient) with her current provider.
- ♦ This program links the patient with community agencies in order to bridge the gap in gaining access to an array of services, such as:

Drug treatment • Domestic violence resources/services • Post-partum services • Child care
Mental health • Food, baby supplies • Personal items • Education
Medical doctors • Housing • Assistance with paying bills

- ♦ If a patient does not have an OBGYN, one of our program case managers can refer her.
- ♦ We provide essential peer recovery support. To help ensure that recovery is possible, our Recovery Specialists will connect with participants, educating them on how to appropriately navigate treatment and offering guidance and assistance in sustaining social support.
- ♦ If a patient currently attends JSAS HealthCare, she will have the option to receive care through the JSAS Perinatal Project in collaboration with Jersey Shore University Medical Center or she may continue to use her own doctor.

It is our hope to provide women in this targeted population the opportunity for a healthy pregnancy while gaining assistance for their ever-changing needs, as well as offering them peer recovery support. We look forward to hearing from you regarding our program.
